

In class this week:

Homework

Important
News

Fall Testing
(Next Week!)

To prepare for fall testing, please make sure your child is practicing math facts as well as reading every evening. I will be reading one-on-one with the students in the next couple of weeks for benchmarking. We will also take our second round of math facts. If you need suggestions on how to study, please let me know ☺ I know testing will go great!

Literacy: Nonfiction has been the focus again this week. The students have been finding the main idea and key details for individual paragraphs and multiparagraph text.

Math: Unit 2 is coming to a close. We will round out the unit in two weeks by doing explorations and a review with a test on Thursday, October 20th. *Practice your facts!

Language: Review this week

Spelling: This week's spelling pattern was silent-e. Next the focus will be on -nk and -ng endings.

Thank you so much to those of you that have made donations to the classroom so far this year. Your generosity is very much appreciated ☺

The students have started with their weekly homework. Nightly work should include:

1. Studying spelling words.
2. Twenty minutes of reading and completion of reading/homework log.
3. Studying math facts.
4. Math Home Links

:Specials:

Day 1- Music
Day 2- PE
Day 3- Art
Day 4- PE

Library- Fridays

: Upcoming Dates :

- Friday, October 14th: Hopewell Harvest
- Thursday, October 20th: October Book Orders due
- Friday, October 21st: No School